
A Blessed
Christmas

Dear Friends!

"And on earth peace to men of good will" (Lk 2:14). Just as once in Bethlehem God entrusted the Peace and the Future of the world into Mary's hands, so today God entrusts Himself into our human hands as well. He places Himself into the hands of each one of us, including those of little Paul from the Central African Republic.
Mary and Joseph, and the shepherds, were poor people – like young Paul – but nevertheless they trusted totally in God. Their hope for the salvation of the world in which they lived became a living reality with the birth of the Divine Son. May we also let this hope germinate in our hearts. This Christmas let us, like little Paul, take Jesus trustingly in our arms: as the hope of life and peace shines forth in Him.
